ANNOUNCING...
THE 30 UNDER 30 CARIBBEAN AMERICAN
CHANGEMAKERS

Now in its fourth year, the Ignite Caribbean 30 Under 30 Changemakers announce the winners for 2019. The Ignite Caribbean 30 Under 30 Changemakers Awards are presented for leadership accomplishments in the USA and honorees can be from any CARICOM member country. They can be from any sector or endeavor -- Academic, Entrepreneur, Activist or Community Leader -- who has been working for more than 3 years on an Agenda to promote the wellbeing of the Caribbean Society in the United States or in the Caribbean Region. They could also be a Student Leader, e.g. a member of a Caribbean Student Association whose work has contributed to making a measurable difference on a University/College Campus in the USA or Caribbean.

This year, Tower Isles returns as the lead sponsor of the event. The Office of the Executive Director for the Caribbean at the Inter-American Development Bank will once again serve as Honorary Chair. South Florida Caribbean Media will serve as Media Partner.

Since 1983, the Institute of Caribbean Studies (ICS) has been on the forefront bringing attention to the issues of critical importance to the Caribbean American community.

Ann-Marie Campbell

Ann-Marie Campbell began her career with The Home Depot in 1985 as a cashier in South Florida and today is executive vice president, U.S. Stores. In this role, she leads the company's three U.S. operating divisions comprised of nearly 2,000 U.S. stores and the bulk of the company's nearly 400,000 associates.

Ann-Marie learned her first lessons in retail from her grandmother in Jamaica, a successful retailer in her own right. And after more than 30 years with the company, Ann-Marie brings a deep understanding of The Home Depot's operations, culture and customers.

During her career at the company, she has served in a variety of positions, including store manager, district manager and regional vice president. She has also served as vice president of operations, vice president of merchandising and special orders, vice president of retail marketing and sales for Home Depot Direct, vice president of vendor services and, most recently, president of the Southern Division of The Home Depot.

Ann-Marie is a graduate of Georgia State University, where she earned a bachelor's degree in philosophy and a master's degree in business administration. She is a member of Beta Gamma Sigma, an international business honor society, and the National Scholars Honor Society.

She currently serves on the boards for Georgia State University's Robinson College of Business, Barnes & Noble and Potbelly Corporation. In 2014, Fortune Magazine listed her among the top 50 most powerful women in business.
